You don't often get email from landuseclerk@townofkentct.org. Learn why this is important

A review of the building and zoning files shows no current open/pending/expired permits or demolition permits. All building permits are older than 9 years and are considered closed under Connecticut State PA 17-176. As of today, there are no code violations or fines that are due. With regard to the liens/fines/special assessments, that information is not handled by this department.
